CLX evaluates the possibility to carry out a directed share issue

Stockholm, Sweden – CLX Communications AB (publ.) - XSTO:CLX

CLX Communications AB (publ) ("CLX" or the "Company") – a leading global provider of cloud-based communications services - has mandated Handelsbanken Capital Markets to evaluate the conditions for carrying out a directed new share issue of up to 4,067,647 shares, based on the authorization granted by CLX's annual general meeting on 19 May 2017.

As stated in the press release on 19 May 2017 communicating CLX's new financial targets, the board of directors continues to see good growth opportunities through acquisitions over the next few years. In consideration of this, the Company is continuously evaluating its capital structure. The purpose of the contemplated directed share issue would be to decrease CLX's leverage and to enable the Company's continued pursuit of value creating acquisitions, extend the Company's shareholder base and enhance the liquidity of the Company's shares.

The potential new share issue is directed to Swedish and international institutional investors and is, inter alia, subject to the board of directors of the Company resolving to issue new shares following the completion of a so-called "accelerated book-building" process that will be carried out by Handelsbanken Capital Markets. The subscription price for the shares in the potential new share issue will be determined through the book-building process, which will begin no earlier than 17.31 (CET) on 30 May 2017, and end before the commencement of trading on Nasdaq Stockholm on 31 May 2017. The minimum order will be set at the number of shares corresponding to EUR 100,000. The book-building process may close earlier or later at the discretion of the Company and CLX can, in its sole discretion, choose to cancel the book-building for any or no reason and at any time.
